MEETING TIME:	10:30 AM on Day 2 of your trip
RETURN TIME:	By 4:00 PM for flights to Santiago after 5:00 PM on Day 9
RIVER RATING:	Class IV (Class V optional)
RIVER MILES:	60
AGE LIMIT:	Minimum age is 12 (Please note: Although our minimum age is 12, our partner outfitter sets a lower minimum and younger children may be present on your trip.)
TRIP LENGTH:	10 days / 9 nights including travel
ACTIVITIES:	Whitewater rafting, inflatable kayaking, hiking, Tyrolean traverse, zip line, climbing, canyoneering, horseback riding and mountain biking

The Futaleufu is one of Earth's premier whitewater destinations. Flowing through Chilean Patagonia, far beneath the spires and snow-packed crown of the Andes, the Fu's steely turquoise waters pass through granite walls and lush hardwood forests. Four exclusive and diverse camps offer 1500 wild acres and four miles of private riverfront, while providing amenities usually reserved for far more developed settings. Your camps along the Futaleufu feature hand hewn cypress dwellings built high in old growth treetops or perched on cliff sides along the river, natural hot tubs carved into stone, and rock shelters with fire hearths. The Futaleufu itinerary also includes hiking, horseback riding, rock climbing, rappelling and swimming, as well as other activities for the outdoor adventurer.

AWARD-WINNING NATURE-BASED ADVENTURES SINCE 1969

O.A.R.S. has been in business for over 40 years and that is no accident. Great trips on some of the world's best rivers and coastlines are the recipe for this success. Always focused on our clients and their vacations, it is our genuine belief that river trips and nature-based adventures are extremely valuable life experiences. With that as our foundation, we have committed ourselves over the years to providing the best trips available, always with an eye on improvement.

WHITewater

- In Chile's native Mapuche, Futaleufu translates as "grand waters" or "great great river." Aptly named, the Futaleufu is a large volume (9-15,000 cubic feet per second) technical river boasting intense stretches of one Class IV or V rapid after another and clear turquoise water unlike any other. Class IV participants have the option of hiking or riding horses on a beautiful trail around some of the more difficult and intense descents, but be advised that even the Class IV rapids will get your attention with plenty of excitement!

GEOGRAPHY AND WILDLIFE

- The geography of Patagonia differs greatly from the rest of Chile, primarily because of the glacial forces sculpting the terrain over the past 800,000 years. South of Chaiten, glacial modeling has created Andean lakes and roaring rivers, such as the Futaleufu. Alternating between vistas of granite cliffs, lush foliage, snow-capped peaks, and towering spires, the Futaleufu pours dramatically through a canyon of breathtaking beauty. Hardwood forests showcase some stands of old growth trees and condors soaring far overhead are not an unusual sight. Other resident wildlife includes puma, wamule (endangered elk), ibis, salmon, and trout. Slot canyons, tributary waterfalls, and glacial lakes provide added highlights.

Sample Itinerary

We pride ourselves in running a relaxed and flexible schedule. Every trip is different depending upon the group, other trips on the water and sometimes the weather. The following is a sample of what your trip might be like.

Day 1: Depart from your home city (Friday)

- Participants take an evening flight to Santiago, Chile.

Day 2: Santiago / Puerto Montt / Chaiten / Terminador Camp (Saturday)

- Upon arriving in Santiago, pass through customs and then transfer to a flight to Puerto Montt. (This flight is not included in your trip fee.) Upon arrival at Puerto Montt's Tepual Airport, transfer by taxi to Paloma airport by taxi. The taxi ride is approximately 25 minutes and you must arrive in time for an 11:00 AM flight. Your Earth River representative will meet you at La Paloma, brief you and assist you in boarding the commuter flight to Chaiten. The half hour flight is spectacular, following the rugged coastline of Pumalin Park. Wild rivers flow into deep fiords framed by verdant rain forest wilds that stretch upwards into the rugged snow-capped Patagonia Andes. Just before landing, we get a bird's eye view of the still smoldering Chaiten Volcano which a few years ago buried 90% of the town of Chaiten. The cement-like ash froze time, cars, houses and shops, much like Pompeii. Amazingly there was not a single fatality. Since the initial eruption, a number of residents have come back to salvage what was left of their lives.
- We arrive in Chaiten at mid-day and board our bus. The road passes beneath giant snow-capped peaks and hanging glaciers in a deep glaciated valley. After one hour, we reach the trailhead for our glacier hike. This is a stunning two-hour round-trip hike through lush rain forest and beneath towering waterfalls to a unique wall of blue ice spilling on to the green forest. After the hike, we board the bus and drive another hour-and-a-half passing roaring rivers and deep lakes to the Terminator Camp trailhead.
- A mile hike takes us into the camp's interior. (Personal bags are transported by ox cart.) The first of four stunning private camps on the river, the Terminator Camp has a mile of waterfront and sits on a dramatic bluff over the raging river. A beautiful trail winds through the trees the entire length of the camp offering stunning views of the mile-long rapid which churns the water into every imaginable shade of azure, white and turquoise. Fourteen private, two-person, hand-hewn wooden cliff dwellings are hidden in the trees, each with a bird's-eye view of the river. Located near the center of the camp is an 18-person cypress deck. The deck is scribed around trees and giant rocks and is tucked behind a truck-sized boulder that acts both as a screen from the river and as a natural veranda. Sitting or standing, a person is above the top of the rock and can see an unimpeded view up and down the mile-long rapid and the surrounding canyon. A trail from the deck leads down to the water's edge where there is a natural stone couch with seats for five. A peninsula of granite juts out into the river and affords a view of the entire mile-long avalanche of rock and water as it races down the "staircase."

- A professional masseuse, chef, and videographer accompany most expeditions. Camp amenities have been added in such a way as to not take away from the wild nature of the river and the expedition. This evening after we settle in, we'll have a hearty welcome dinner.

Day 3: Rio Futaleufu Raft Training / Rio Azul & Futaleufu Inflatable Kayaking / Terminador Camp (Sunday)

- This morning we hike from camp and drive five minutes to our raft training put in. After a safety talk and paddling lessons, we run a series of Class IV rapids including Mundoca, Wina and Tiburon.
- After lunch we drive 15 minutes to our inflatable kayak put-in on the Class II Rio Azul. After a kayak training lesson, we paddle the beginner Class II rapids of this stunning, turquoise-colored river. Warming up on the Azul, we soon reach the confluence with the Futaleufu. From here we'll kayak down this beginner stretch of the Futaleufu to Terminator Camp where we spend the night.
- Note: Inflatable kayaking on the Azul is subject to water levels. If the Azul is too high or too low, we will kayak the Rio Espolon or another stretch of the Futaleufu.

Day 4: Terminador Camp / Rio Futaleufu Rafting / Cave Camp (Monday)

- In the morning we hike 30 minutes out of camp and drive an hour to the put-in on the upper river. Soon we enter the wild, sheer-walled Class V Infierno Canyon. Racing between imposing walls hundreds of feet high, the pulsing river boasts some of the most impressive commercially-run rapids in the world, including Infierno, Purgatorio and Escala de Jacoba. Note: Class IV participants have the option of hiking on a stunning trail around the canyon to the lunch spot. Each rapid in Infierno Canyon is separated by a swift pool that allows enough time for rescue and recovery, if necessary.
- In the early afternoon, everyone rafts down to Campo Casa de Piedra (Cave Camp) where we will spend the night. Cave Camp is a private, 1,000-acre exotic and diverse river camp. Not a cave in the true sense, but a massive overhanging white granite slab that rests on two boulders, the locals refer to the main shelter as the House of Stone. There is a sand floor, two natural skylights and giant fireplace in the rear wall that draws smoke through a crack. With an interior space of over 1,600 square feet, this natural wonder is large enough to keep the entire group warm and dry under any conditions. Meals are served here during times of inclement weather.
- In front of the main stone shelter is a beautiful spring-fed pond Laguito Azul (Little Blue Lake). Set within a bowl of massive granite towers as high as 300 feet and surrounded by lush vegetation, Laguito Azul resembles a giant Japanese garden. Its brilliant blue water is so pure you can drink it and so clear you can see giant German brown trout and salmon up to 25 pounds swimming 30 feet beneath the surface. Kayaks are available for gliding over the transparent waters of Laguito Azul.
- A few hundred feet beyond Laguito Azul rages the most spectacular rapid on the river, Zeta, a Class V-VI Z-shaped flume cut into solid granite. Just downstream of Zeta, carved into the granite by the river in higher flows, is a heart-shaped, three-foot deep pothole with water heated to 105° F. With smooth 45-degree sloping walls to lean against and fresh water every day, this chemical-free stone hot tub comfortably accommodates twelve people. The smooth granite ledges around the tub are ideal for relaxing and slope gently into the calm aerated blue pool below Zeta making transition from hot to cold water extremely easy. Soaking at night with the brilliant stars of the southern hemisphere aglow is an unforgettable experience.

- In the vicinity of the cliff dwellings is a large cliffside dining area, an 18-person wooden hot tub and a second spring-fed swimming pond. The cliff dwellings, hot tub, and dining area are all well hidden from the Futaleufu, yet through the trees they command the river's most impressive camp view. A series of dramatic hand-hewn log sky bridges, thirty feet off the ground, link the Zeta dining/sleeping area to the main stone shelter so that in times of inclement weather the transition between the two areas is effortless. Downstream from Zeta Rapid is Lost Beach. This beautiful private beach is so tucked away that people float right by it on the main river without ever knowing it is there. The camp also has flush toilets and hot showers.

Day 5: Cave Camp / Tyrolean Traverse / Tree House Camp (Tuesday)

- This morning we set up a dramatic Tyrolean traverse across the river. Wearing climbing harnesses attached to pulleys, participants pull themselves across a rope stretched between sheer granite walls over the heart of Zeta Rapid. Although not risky or particularly strenuous, hanging and then crossing over the Class VI rapid is extremely exhilarating. Upon reaching the other side, we begin climbing out of the inner canyon. The moderately strenuous 1,500-vertical-foot hike takes us past a beautiful 100-foot tributary waterfall and breathtaking views of the river with dramatic peaks rising above it.
- After about two hours, we crest the top of the inner canyon and enter a wonderful old-growth hardwood forest. Tucked away in the center of this enchanted, moss-draped land of giants is the 10-acre, 50-foot deep Lake of the Frogs. Carved out by a glacier, the lake drops straight off the edge like a giant, bottomless swimming pool. Surrounded by native old-growth forest on three sides and dramatic mountain views on the fourth, this intimate body of water offers wonderful opportunities for swimming and canoeing (there are two canoes). Hidden back in the trees, there is a hand-hewn log gazebo with a fireplace in case of inclement weather. Just beyond the gazebo, 35 feet up in a majestic closely-knit stand of old-growth giants are eight wonderful, hexagon-shaped tree houses. They are connected like spokes of a wheel from one central tree and a circular staircase. These amazing architectural gems are each unique and were hand crafted by a Chilean master carpenter. Each tree house was designed to be self-supporting and not a single nail was placed in the trees.
- In the afternoon, there is the option of swimming and relaxing in the hot tub or taking a short hike to the breathtaking Tree House Camp Canyon Overlook. Engulfed by snow-capped mountains on all sides, this spot affords 360-degree views including two gorgeous lakes and seven miles of the turquoise Futaleufu River canyon stretching as far as the eye can see. Condors are frequently seen soaring in the updrafts. We spend the evening suspended above the lower canopy with stunning views of the lake, surrounding forest and mountains.
- Note: Anyone not wishing to do the moderately strenuous hike up to the Tree House Camp may stay at the Cave Camp where there will be a guide and chef. They may, however take part in the Tyrolean traverse and zip line river crossings. Activities at the cave camp include hiking, kayaking on Laguito Azul, fishing, or relaxing in one of the hot tubs. Those who hike but prefer not to zip line back across the river can be rowed.

Day 6: Tree House Camp / Zip Line, Tower Climb & Giant Rappel / Cave Camp (Wednesday)

- This morning, we hike an hour and a half back down to the river. From the trail we can see aerial views of the river, the surrounding canyon, and the majestic Tower of the Winds, which we will be climbing and rappelling down later in the day. The trail ends at a 250-foot zip line. Holding a loop handle attached to a pulley over our heads, we leap off a 25-foot cliff, shooting 250 feet down an angled rope, letting go into the pool below Zeta Rapid. A soak in the nearby 105° F natural stone hot tub is a perfect transition from the 60° F river. On the cliff just above the hot tub, there is a 10- to 42-foot high cliff jump into the aerated blue pool below Zeta Rapid.

- Lunch is served near the stone hot tub on the smooth ledges at Zeta. After lunch, we receive a climbing safety briefing and put on our climbing harnesses for the Tower climb. For those not wanting to climb, there are the options of hiking, kayaking on the pond, excellent trout fishing or relaxing in the stone hot tub. The Tower climb involves a dynamic three-part rock climb up the backside of the 320-foot granite Torre de los Vientos (Tower of the Winds). No previous climbing experience is necessary, and people of all ages have made the climb. Once on top, we venture out on the dramatic Knife's Edge, crossing its narrow natural bridge, with sheer 300-foot drop-offs on either side. The views of Zeta Rapid, Laguito Azul and the surrounding canyon from the Knife's Edge are exquisite and the most impressive found on the river. To descend from the Tower, we do a dramatic 320-foot two-stage rappel (self-lowering by rope) off the Tower's sheer north wall. For most people, switching ropes at the mid-station is as exhilarating as any of the river's Class V rapids. An optional, less demanding 100-foot rappel off the backside of the Tower is also available. We spend the night at Cave Camp.

Day 7: Cave Camp / Rio Futaleufu / Rio Blanco Canyoneering / Campo Mapu Leufu (Thursday)

- A short float this morning takes us to unrunnable Throne Room Rapid, where the boats are pushed through empty. The next couple of hours are spent running a series of long, exciting Class IV+ rapids down to the top of Terminador ("Terminator"). After an exciting morning, we stop for lunch on a beach at the confluence of the Futaleufu and turquoise Rio Azul River.
- After lunch, we paddle some more exciting Class IV+ rapids down to the Mapu Leufu Camp. Situated on a secluded bluff, 120 feet over the river with dramatic 360-degree views, this 300-acre camp has over two miles of private riverfront. Hand-hewn wooden cliff dwellings offer breathtaking views of granite towers rising from the turquoise river. Dramatically perched on the cliff is an 18-person wooden hot tub. Meals are served outdoors at the cliff-side dining area with stunning views of granite spires rising from the turquoise river in one direction and glacier-capped, Alp-like peaks in the other. There is also a tributary stream with waterfalls and deep pools. The camp has flush toilets, hot showers and a hand-hewn gazebo-like shelter and a covered dining area in case of rain.
- In the afternoon we take a manual cable car across the river to go canyoneering through the 400 feet deep Rio Blanco slot canyon. Wearing wetsuits and river shoes we hike, climb, and swim through this incredible natural labyrinth of white boulders, clear azure pools, and waterfalls. If you'd prefer not to go canyoneering, you have the option to go horseback riding, mountain biking, fishing or just relaxing at camp. Please note: If you are interested in going horseback riding, you need to inform the head guide at the start of the trip so that they can make arrangements to have horses available.

Day 8: Rio Futaleufu / Campo Mapu Leufu (Friday)

- Today features one of the most impressive commercial rafting days anywhere in the world. Within minutes of pushing off, Class V participants enter the Class V+ Terminador Rapid, the most demanding rapid on the river. Immediately downstream of Terminador are the fifteen foot waves of the Himalayas. In this stretch of river the rapids flow together to make nearly a mile and a half of non-stop Class V action. (Class IV participants can hike around the most exposed sections on a beautiful trail and run the rest.) After the Himalayas, there is a series of giant Class IV+ rapids (some nearly a mile long) and two Class V rapids: Cojin (the cushion) and Mundaca. After another long stretch of Class IV+ rapids, we have lunch.

- In the afternoon, we run two of the most difficult Class V rapids on the river—Mas o Menos and Casa De Piedra. After the last rapid, the canyon boasts some of its most spectacular scenery with grand vistas of towering mountains and glaciers.
- This evening we will have a traditional Chilean Asado (sheep roasted over a fire) prepared by our neighbor Sugundo.

Day 9: Campo Mapu Leufu / Chaiten / Puerto Montt / Santiago (Saturday)

- This morning after breakfast, we drive two and a half hours to the Chaiten Airport where we board the commuter flight to Puerto Montt. In Puerto Montt we transfer to our flight back to Santiago and connecting to destinations beyond.

Day 10: Return (Sunday)

- This morning we arrive in our home countries and transfer to our connecting flights.

SOMETHING VOLUNTARY

- In reviewing your statement, you'll note a $1/person/day donation to FutaFriends, a non-profit conservation organization dedicated to ensure the free flow of the Futaleufu River and to protect the natural resources of its watershed. These funds allow FutaFriends to continue to serve the community and the environment through capacity-building seminars, educational activities, and monitoring programs. One-hundred percent of these funds go directly to FutaFriends, and your contribution is tax-deductible. This donation is voluntary and may be removed from your invoice if you choose not to participate. Please notify our office if you would prefer to delete the donation from your balance.
- The O.A.R.S. Foundation is a not-for-profit 501 (c) 3 organization with the express goal of providing opportunities for young people to experience the magic of a river trip. Visit www.oarsfoundation.org to learn more about how your tax deductible donation can change young lives for the better.

Terms & Conditions

Reservations & Deposit

- An $800/person deposit is required at the time of reservation. The balance is due 90 days prior to departure.

Cancellations & Refunds

- If you find it necessary to cancel your trip, notify us as soon as possible. All payments are nonrefundable and we regret that we cannot make exceptions for personal emergencies. For this reason, we strongly urge our participants to investigate trip cancellation insurance (see Insurance).

Medical

- Under most circumstances, if you are of an adventurous spirit and in reasonably good health, you should have no problem enjoying this trip. People with medical conditions, including pregnancy, should have a physician's approval before taking an adventure travel trip.

Insurance

- Although every effort is made to insure a safe trip for all, we require that you purchase medical evacuation insurance to participate in this expedition. Call Travel Insurance Services at 800-937-1387 or visit their website at www.travelinsure.com/what/imedhigh.htm?32635 for inexpensive options that cover this requirement. We also strongly recommend that you protect yourself, your belongings, and your vacation through the purchase of a short-term traveler's policy. A trip cancellation policy covers your non-refundable payments in most cases, should you have to cancel your trip at the last minute due to illness or injury, as well as including the coverage required above. Trip participants should realize that in the event of illness or injury on a river trip, evacuation could be prolonged, difficult, and expensive. Personal belongings and cameras are carried entirely at the owner's risk, and we accept no responsibility for lost, damaged, delayed, or stolen property.

Liability Waiver

- Everyone is required to sign a standard liability release before the trip, acknowledging awareness that some risks are associated with the trip. Safety is of the utmost concern on our trips. However, due to the nature of the activities, a condition of your participation is that you will sign this form and return it to our office before the trip begins. Anyone who refuses to sign the form will not be allowed to participate, and consistent with Travel Outdoors cancellation policy, there will be no refund of the trip fees at that time.

Responsibility – An Important Notice

- Travel Outdoors, Inc., Earth River and cooperating agencies act only in the capacity of agent for the participants in all matters relating to transportation and/or all other related travel services, and assume no responsibility however caused for injury, loss or damage to person or property in connection with any service, including but not limited to that resulting directly or indirectly from acts of God, detention, annoyance, delays and expenses arising from quarantine, strikes, theft, pilferage, force majeure, failure of any means of conveyance to arrive or depart as scheduled, civil disturbances, government restrictions or regulations, and discrepancies or change in transit over which it has no control. Reasonable changes in itinerary may be made where deemed advisable for the comfort and well being of the participants, including cancellation due to water fluctuation, insufficient bookings and other factors. There is risk in whitewater rafting, particularly during high-water conditions. Rafts, dories and kayaks do capsize. You could be swept overboard. Your guide will make every attempt to assist, but you must be strong and agile enough to "self-help" and "float-it-out" without further endangering yourself or others. We reserve the right not to accept passengers weighing more than 260 pounds or with a waist/chest size exceeding 56 inches. We may decide, at any time, to exclude any person or group for any reason we feel is related to the safety of our trips. We are experienced at accommodating people with various disabilities. Please give us an opportunity to make you feel welcome. We need to discuss any special requirements ahead of time. On advancement of deposit the depositor agrees to be bound by the above recited terms and conditions. Prices subject to change without notice.

Earth River Expeditions:

- Earth River Expeditions, a travel partner of Travel Outdoors, Inc., is the operator of this trip. Upon arrival, Earth River Expeditions staff will meet you and escort you throughout the program. These American and Chilean staff members are the very best and will strive to ensure your complete satisfaction.
